

Chett Wilson (1965-2001)

---

A gentle giant loved and remembered by all who met him. A dedicated husband and father. One who loved and lived life to the fullest. His laugh was contagious, his smile enlightening.

His family would like to remind all that linemen are out there every day risking their lives working hard to make sure that we have power. Be patient. Don't complain when the power is out for a few hours. They understand that money is lost every minute that the power is out, but money cannot replace the life of a lineman, who is a father, a husband, a brother, and a friend.

Lisa has read many children's books with her boys about childhood heroes; fireman, policeman, cowboys, farmers, ranchers, doctors, etc. They have yet to find a children's book about a hero that has been forgot. THE POWER LINEMAN.

Chett's wife Lisa and their three boys are living in Wallsburg, Utah. The proceeds of this book will go to help raise Chase, Mitch, and Traye.

Dedicated To My Two Angels
Chett and Traye

May They Continue to Connect in Heart and in Spirit

Love,
Lisa Wilson
